REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record does not provide for, nor suggests providing for a system comprising a Network Access Server (NAS) and a Home Gateway Server (HGS) wherein the NAS will allocate an IP address from the HGS on behalf of a user entering the NAS's network. The HGS maintains a pool of IP addresses to be used by the various users in response to authentication information included with the IP address request from the user. The pool of IP addresses may be stored in memory within the HGS or in a RADIUS server and also stores IP addresses allocated to a particular user. The HGS will authenticate the user and allocate an IP address for the particular user. The HGS will then send periodic queries about the status of the user connection with the NAS, and the NAS will respond to those queries to inform the HGS that the user is still connected to the NAS. The NAS will also monitor the connection between the user and the NAS. The detector 30 of the NAS may cause a keep-alive sender 32 to send periodic-keep alive messages to the HGS to indicate that the user is still using the IP address. In allocating an IP address, the HGS establishes a connection with the NAS and receives a request for an IP address for a user, and identification of the user, and authenticating information associated with the user. This information is compared with an authorized user database. If the information is correct, the authenticator 62 causes the allocator 64 to allocate an IP address to the user from the pool of IP addresses maintained by the IP address pool maintainer 56. The IP address is stored in memory and other data associated with the user is stored in the user identification maintainer 58.

Once the IP address has been allocated, the HGS sends the IP address to the NAS, which in turn will send the IP address to the user.

2. The closest prior art of record is Perkins '592 which discloses allocating IP addresses to various remote devices, however does not disclose authenticating a user to allocate an IP address, and an HGS periodically querying the NAS to determine if the user is still connected to the NAS.

3. For these reasons, in conjunction with the other limitations of the independent claims, puts this case in condition for allowance.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Drawings

4. New corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in this application because the drawings are unclear and are handwritten. Applicant is advised to employ the services of a competent patent draftsman outside the Office, as the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office no longer prepares new drawings. The corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The requirement for corrected drawings will not be held in abeyance.
